14th September 2016

Dear Parents and Guardians,

Year 11 after school Mathematics Revision/Homework sessions.

We are writing to advise you that this year our successful after school revision sessions for year 11 will be held on Tuesdays, with the first session starting next week on 20th September at 3.20pm in Room 14.

Homework for all year 11 classes will be set on Tuesday's to be handed in the following Monday; homework will consist of past GCSE examination questions in preparation for the forth coming examinations.

This term the revision sessions will offer the opportunity to complete the homework set and all the staff in the Mathematics department will be available to guide and assist students. Additionally, students will be encouraged to ask for any help with topics covered in class that they are unsure about, or bring any questions they have found difficulty with in their independent revision.

At Rye College we again achieved very good GCSE results for 2016, and one of the factors that led to this was the high level of pupil commitment to undertake extra work outside their normal timetabled lessons, in particular, completing the homework assignments set.

We do hope your son or daughter be able to attend, and we wish them the very best in their Mathematics for the important forthcoming year.

With best wishes,

Jason Tree/Sara El-Sharawy

Joint Heads of Mathematics
